THOUGHTS WHILE DRIVING FROM OUR PRESIDENT DOUG CARLISLE

I have often wondered if folks still like to take drives like the ones I took when I was young. Do you remember when a Sunday drive was something to look forward to even though cars weren't air conditioned and had no cup holders? It was exciting just riding to grandma's house. All you could think about was... I can't wait till I'm sixteen!

When the day finally came it was like Christmas. I think I wore out my license showing it to everybody. You looked for any and every reason to drive somewhere. It didn't matter where---just somewhere. Can I back the car out of the driveway? Do you need anything from the store? My favorite was; "Dad don't you think I should rotate the tires?" Now you would do unthinkable things---like picking up your little brother from music lessons--- even though you hated your little brother. I didn't even mind going to the dentist as long as I could drive.

I still love driving--especially the TR . I can it drive night or day, with the top up or down, spring, summer, fall or winter. I doesn't matter. I suppose you could call this the true confessions of a caraholic. It's no secret that I love sports cars. I have loved them since I was a kid. Heaven forbid that I should ever grow up! I can just sit in the TR and pretend I'm driving.

Sometimes, I pretend that I'm at LeMans traveling about 150mph down the Mulsanne Straight. Once when Cindy happened to come out in the garage I tried to get her to refuel and do a tire change. She just black flagged me and told me it was time to walk the dog. I hope I never lose that love of driving.

Oh I suppose one day when we all get old our children will take our license, and we will be resigned to the passenger seat. There may be no more spirited drives down our favorite crooked roads or hair raising trips to the grocery store; but then nobody said we couldn't sit in the car and pretend. Maybe I can get Cindy to at least clean my windshield. Well it's time to walk the dog ---but, then, I wonder if she had rather ride. -- Doug

A SPECIAL CAR FOR A SPECIAL DAY

In the September edition of the Triumphant Tribune, the newsletter of the Triumph Club of the Carolinas, Steve Ward, the president of TCOC shared a story about a father who contacted him asking for help to surprise his daughter on her wedding day. He asked if any one would allow his daughter to have her wedding pictures taken in a TR3. He explained his daughter had a picture of he and his wife on their wedding day in a recently restored TR3. The wife had passed away in the 1980's and he sold the car in 1990. His daughter had always said that she wanted to be able to have her picture taken in a TR3 so she would start her married life the same as her parents.

Steve writes, "To get a TR3 to the church on time was our challenge as a thunderstorm was going through the area. A Club member had allowed me to borrow his recently restored TR3 for the photo opportunity. We arrived at the church after the ceremony had started and my wife let the wedding director know we were outside waiting. You can imagine the surprise, joy, and tears from the bride when she came out of the church after the ceremony to see a TR3 waiting for her. Her Dad was quick to explain that the car was for pictures and not her wedding gift. Sarah Shaffner Crossan now has a photo with her new husband sitting in a TR-3 to hang beside the one of her parents in a TR-3 on their wedding day! As I reflect over the last 12 years of my involvement in the Club, I think this may be one of the more memorable events for me. And I know that for the next 60 years or so, at least one young lady will have a special place in her heart for Triumphs!"
